Life Changes After NDE: Narrative responses to survey question below.

This page contains 630 narrative responses to the NDERF survey question “Please discuss any changes that might have occurred in your life after your experience.”

Methodology:

Experiences were scored as NDEs if they met all of the following:

1. A lucid, organized experience occurring at the time of a life-threatening event so severe that there is unconsciousness or clinically apparent death with an absent heartbeat.
2. An NDE Scale score of 7 or higher.
3. Shared in English by the individual who personally had the NDE.
4. Shared via the completed survey form on nderf.org.

These are NDEs from the most recent version of the NDERF survey (nderf.org). They are sequentially shared NDEs from November 11, 2011 to April 8, 2021. All accounts were scored as NDEs if they met the above criteria and regardless of experience content to avoid bias in studying the content of the NDEs.

The NDEs posted on the NDERF website are edited only to correct obvious spelling and grammar errors. As remarkable as the NDEs are in this list, please remember that they accurately represent the real experiences of near-death experiencers (NDErs) from all walks of life and around the world.

6102	John R NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1john_r_nde_6102.html	My life has been enriched. While concerned and involved in the community, I also have a certain detachment to it all. I have less concern for what people think of me. Much less need to pursue the trivia that makes up much of modern life. As a consequence, I have had more time than most folks to just observe the world free of most of the attachments people carry along with them.
6106	DW NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1dw_nde.html	That would take another book. What I know now is all roads lead to 'home' and we are here to love one another and help each other get through here the best we can in the most loving way we can...Love is not always "good actions". It's being willing to do what is needed to be most loving toward another. Sometimes that is to restrict or limit them (as our children) or to move on in life and leave them to work out their own path home...But when you chose to act lovingly, you will find the right action.
6110	Lysa NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1lysa_nde.html	I became sensitive to others I sometimes felt I was a stranger to my mum and dad. My imagination and creativity became increased and I felt I could will some things to happen. In adult hood I have experimented with reiki healing, angel cards, colour therapy and other therapies for well being. I studied to become a life coach.
6113	Stephen M NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1stephen_m_nde.html	I feel more connected to other people now. I have become very active in writting poems, making music, and also combining the two into a visual form by making videos and narrating my poetry in these videos. Many other people who have lost loved ones, now find great comfort all over the world in my work.
6117	Brent M NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1brent_m_nde.html	I have become spiritual in conjunction with my affiliation with AA.
6118	Ana R NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1ana_r_nde_6118.html	Before my experience, I was very careless...lived without thinking of consequences, etc. Others did not matter to me as long as I was "happy". Now, I am so much more careful, sometimes to my detriment. I realize how fragile life is and I tend to worry about when my real time will come. I am more anxious than I was before the experience.
6119	Shannon T NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1shannon_t_nde.html	I don't care about my career, money, house or anything material anymore. I just want to enjoy my kids, my family, my friends and all the beauty and simplicity of life.
6120	Karen NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1karen_nde_6120.html	My father recently passed away and I knew that he was going to be where I had been and I miss him, but am happy he is there.

			I dont like being around people who are negative or have bad "energy" and avoid them or try not to let them effect my spiritual well-being.
6125	Sandy D NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1sandy_d_nde.html	My life is hell. Lost job. Loving adult daughter betrayed and abandoned me. Teenage daughter changed and I dont recognize her. Ex husband suing for custody 6 years after divorce. Heath deteriorated to the point I am disabled, broke and broken. Friends disappeared. Labeled Psyciatric patient so heathcare delayed till paralyzed. My husband is still with me but we are so disconnected we are on different planets. Only my service dog shares my feelings and emotions. And that dog, tho she saved my life 3 times, is as retarded as they come.
6130	Ellie P NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1ellie_p_nde.html	I am more accepting of what life throws at me,& believe their is a purpose to all of it
6131	Kaleen NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1kaleen_nde.html	For years I believed that this was a common experience that people have when they pass-out, faint or black out. It as taken a long time to realize what a gift it was. I would say if anything, the love or joy I have felt since then has paled so much in comparison to what I felt during that experience that I have been disappointed.
6136	Camryn L NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1camryn_l_nde.html	I went through a long period of depression because I did not want to come back. I was no longer afraid to die so I considered suicide more often and knew that I would be going to a better place. I no longer had any fear of dying.
6137	Paul S NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1paul_s_nde_6137.html	Not only am I more spiritual since my experience, I now seem to have lucid dreams and a much better intuition about things.
6139	Kirat A NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1kirat_a_nde.html	As i mentioned earlier,i have become spiritual and started exploring a lot of spiritual work. Have started reading about Sufism.

6148	Bella K NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1bella_k_nde.html	I seem way more sensitive to others. I can connect more easily and feel things I would rather not.

6151	Jill D NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1jill_d_nde.html	I believe in Howard's help -- it may be coincidental, but whenever I ask for his help, he follows through in about a week. I got a job in the early 80s where there were no jobs to be found, and the incidents leading to my getting that job were very quirky. I met my current husband after two failed marriages and many relationships -- he was the only one I had discussed with Howard beforehand. My husband came into my life a week after I told Howard I was ready to meet someone. There have been numerous events like this since.
6155	Erinn H NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1erinn_h_nde.html	i became less judgmental of people and thier beliefs after the experience
6158	Marilyn R NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1marilyn_r_nde.html	After my experience I would say things and they would happen and it scared my family and my mother took me aside and told me she believed me but it was scaring everyone so when you think you know something keep it to yourself. I would know that someone was going to die in three days and would tell my family and three days later they died. My grandmother told my father that the devil had a hold of me it scared her so bad that my mother made me keep quiet when things like that came to me. I still know today if someone I know or knew is going to die. Its something I got used to and often shares it alone. I have also seen and spoken to spirits. My dead father-in-law called me on the phone the day he was buried and told me I was the only one he was allowed to contact. He wanted me to tell my mother in-law that he was alright. He told me he was with a man who knew me and when I asked who he told me he was with the man who carried me up the basement stairs when I was 6 years old. I never told my father in-law about my experience so it left me stunned.

6238	Mindy T NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1mindy_t_nde.html	I am more accepting and patient toward others. I have a totally open mind and fully believe that ANYTHING normal or paranormal IS possible! I guess you could say I am openminded to the point of being naive or gullible. I don't doubt any strange experience that people relate to me as being anything but the truth as they see it.

6184	Trisha S NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1trisha_s_nde.html	At first I was very depressed and angry because I didn't want to come back, but now I meditate, I read everything I can about different philosophies and religions, I try to be more patient with people, I read everything I can on science and try and relate it to philosophy and spirituality. I see answers to questions I never knew I had. I also try to help others overcome their fears of death and dying, and I simply try to make life a bit better for everyone around me. I have a sense of the threads that tie people and events together. I can see the "choices" that people have available to them as energy threads, I can also read people's auras and tell you what fears from "previous" lives might be impacting this current life.

			of dying whatsoever, but I find myself fearful of all manner of earthly perils
6205	Isabel R NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1isabel_r_nde.html	I was 26 and had one small son. Now I am 61 and have two sons, four grandchildren and one on the way. My husband served four terms as the county sheriff. I retired as a mail carrier. Life is good.
6213	Shea B NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1shea_b_nde.html	I was not happy with a church that limited God or excluded other people. I went on a church hunt and never found such a place. I was confirmed Catholic eight years ago. I do not think we are the only people going to heaven. But I do like the miracle of the Eucharist, the bread and wine turning into flesh and blood. I believe people when they tell me things that don't make sense to others. I have had my share of doubts and fears since the experience, but I was young when it happened, and a lot has happened since then. I have gotten caught up in the world, although I have remained a Christian. I do believe I walked past an angel in WalMart eight years ago. Seriously. I walked past the person again, just to see if I felt the same thing. It was familiar. Somewhat like the euphoric feeling I felt during my near death experience. I didn't walk past a third time because it would have been a bit awkward. It happened on the day I was to be confirmed in the Catholic church. Later, weeks later, I figured that maybe the person was an angel, possibly my miscarried child from years ago, just showing up on my special day. I had another occurrence where I felt a sense of otherworldly love rushing from someone the day before my daughter miscarried her child. I questioned why I would feel that rush of love, but then I knew, when my daughter told me she was losing the baby, that God sent me a bit of strength to help my daughter get through her loss. That was a couple of years ago. I don't look for experiences like this. Like I said, I have kids and grandkids and I am busy finishing the last thing on my to-do list most days. No life altering changes since that time God spoke to me. I wish I could say I became a sage or something.

6222	Chuck H NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1chuck_h_nde.html	After my experience I looked for answers from preachers and a priest. I sought other people who had experienced the same thing.
6227	Herman V NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1herman_v_nde.html	The major change would be the realization that the things pursued on earth by humans are for the most part pointless and without meaning. The only things that are worthwhile are those that reinforce one's connection to God. For me that is the natural world, wildlife, communing with God in whatever way I can. I now feel a sense of pity for those I see around me who chase the elusive, the things they think will make them happy. I now know that these things won't. That includes my fellow churchgoers who I see participating in rites and rituals, confessions and creeds and things that they believe will get them in touch with God.

6233	Jenneane E NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1jenneane_e_nde.html	My Grandfather that died when I was 8 came into my dreams and told me to go to Colorado in the basement of my Grandmother's house and find something. I kept asking what am I supposed to find and he didn't answer me. He just kept coming into my dreams bothering me. I didn't really remember him that well. I was now 31 years old. I couldn't figure out how he could be able to be in my dreams after all these years. But it was a few years after my near death experience. I went to Colorado and I was in the basement and my 2 daughters had just fallen asleep and all of the sudden at 10 PM, the old radio beside the bed came on and was playing Unchained Melody by the Righteous Brothers and I recognized the song from the movie Ghost and it made me cry because my Grandfather was able to play that song for me. I think if I didn't have my near death experience, then I would not have seen my Grandfather in my dreams or heard the beautiful song that night. I think the angels or God or our loved ones reach out to us when we are in a bad situation especially from my experience. They can go through the computer, radio, or show us numbers, rainbows, etc. to get our attention. I used to think it was coincidence but the coincidences turned into synchronicity and then into serendipity.

6282	Gary M NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1gary_m_nde.html	I will never see the world the same way again after my near death experience. It didn't cause a huge swing in my beliefs or change me thinking that much, but having experienced the light beings and perhaps having taken that first step toward death was something that will stay with me to the day I do die and I think when that day comes I'll chuckle that it's the same the second time around and here we go!

I am A LOT different. I am less violent. I used to drink a lot of alcohol and now I dont drink at all. I am teaching my children there is a God and an afterlife. If not for this experience, my children would have no religous beliefs.

6246	Natalie S NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1natalie_s_nde.html	Question 43 choices are inadequate for me. The word 'God' carries a lot of baggage, meaning many things yet not All Things. If All That Is can be assumed, then I believed in it before and after. But the ideas of 'God' are currently deeply inadequate and inaccurate, in my experience.

It took me a long time to accept that what I was seeing was actually there. I also felt that the church my family attended did not properly represent God. I left at age 12 - something that was unheard of in my community. I searched for other religions and stayed with some for a while. I am now without a church, but still feel deeply connected to God and the universe. I also hear things... I will receive messages about people or what to do in difficult situations. The messages are always helpful and positive. People will say that I just "know" things or that I can read people. I have a strong intuition, but on occasion, I have information that no one could sense. In these cases, I am very aware that my brain is not involved with detecting any special insight. The information is just given to me. I have no control over it.

			There is no doubt in my mind. I was with Jesus. When I pick up a bible or pray, I feel closer to Jesus and that experience comes more into focus for me. I cannot regain the wonderful feeling of love and joy, nor see the colors and lights, but I know that one day I will die and will be just on the other side of the timeline. It won't be a big deal in terms of not being alive on earth, but will be a great celebration in heaven.

I became very interested in the arts and music. Eventually becoming an art major in college, and a professional musician/guitarist. I basically excelled at everything i did. I excelled in sports as well, becoming a member of the US Ski Team. I am extremely interested in psychic phenomena and have had many experiences in that area.

I remember saying to my family and minister (right after the experience) that there are other "masters" and that our way of believing was not the only way. That GOD loves everyone and not just Presbyterians and Baptists. That all people were going to be ok after we die and that what we were being taught here did not make sense. Today I am aligned with spiritual belief's that encompass universal truths. As a rule, I do not go to church or temple. I go sailing, for long walks on the beach, star gaze, listen to music, windchimes, crystal bowls, and I love nature! As best as I can describe it I did so on auto-pilot, I just found myself gravitating in that direction, which was something of a surprise to me. However, most of what I read soon following the experience was of Eastern origin, and that I found to my surprise that did resonate well with me. I found a way of dealing with my spirituality via that route. This change was quite a strong change in my life and one that lasted. I think I got a little bit smarter following from the experience. I believe in a creator, a being or power, or essence of such to design this life of beings, animal or human, for a purpose and wonder if by living a good, quality life, if we ascend to a higher being either here in this world or somewhere else in this universe.

6711	Mark S NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1mark_s_nde.html	I learned that humans are worse than animals. Ie. Chickens surround their injured and peck them to death to protect their food supply. Humans do the same, except they perceive injured solely by finances, convince themselves you're weak, and then peck away relentlessly simultaneously with others. The forces of karma have become undeniably profound against each 'pecker'. I also believe humans are not evolved enough to manage religion and manipulate it for power to abuse others.

The 2 children in Europe were told to just wait and see what happens before they book a trip home. But, I was so worried about all of my children and wanted them to know their mom was going to be ok. I had picture taken of me eating, standing, sitting in a chair, using the walker, just so they could see my progress. I was more worried about them than myself. Now, although I love and care for all more children more than before my NDE, I now take care of myself. I exercise 2 hours a day, for me, not for anyone else. I eat better. My husband and I have decided to retire and enjoy life while were both still alive. My injury and NDE was a real wake up call for both of us. For 2 days my family didn't know I was going to make it or not. When I woke up from the coma it was a relief to everyone. Now regarding spiritual things I have experienced being paralyzed in my sleep which is something I have experienced as a child on many occasions, but the only differences were seeing a dark shadow come through my window coming down on me at 16 until I prayed to Jesus while having an episode, while pregnant with my first child waking up hearing chanting in my ear until I prayed to Jesus while having an episode, and while me and my husband slept I felt a presence lift up off me after praying while having an episode. So the spiritual world is real, and just like the natural world there is good, and there is evil. I was even tickled in my sleep by an unseen presence.

My life before kept a frantic pace, with a limited tolerance for others and very little compassion for people, certain circumstances notwithstanding. Exactly what that meaning is, I still don't know, but I feel that if I take the time to embrace every aspect of life, every emotion I encounter, then maybe that "meaning" will become clearer. 7417	Nichole BD NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1nichole_bd_nde.html	The changes have been taking place over the past 20 years since this occurred. That's a lot to write about so in my shortest possible assessment: Initially I was depressed and angry for having to return to my body. I looked out at the world and it wasn't as loving or beautiful as what I had witnessed there and I felt homesick for many years. I had another series of life altering events in the year 2001 that literally bled the anger out of me. A whole other experience where I was facing death and had an out of body but not what I call an NDE as I never lost consciousness or anything like that. I was attacked by a mob (10+) of people with beer bottles who were very much trying to kill me and it was the most violent thing I have ever went through. That experience along with my NDE is when I finally fully understood what I was here to do. The world needs more love HERE and I have touched the other side where it's all the love in the universe. I believe I can now be a bridge for that love. I vowed after that attack to let go of my anger fully. I had bought a gun for protection in 2000. I got rid of it immediately after being attacked as I knew from that moment on I did not want to bring any violence to this world in any way. The world was so violent already and I wanted to be sure I put as much love and compassion into the world as I could to counter act it. This is how the experienced changed me however it took a couple of aftermaths to bring it all full circle. I suppose I had to stop feeling sorry for myself for having chosen to stay here and to get on with what I came to do. Which is increase the LOVE. That is just a small fraction of how it has changed me but it is most likely one of the most significant.

I also understood an event that occurred after my mother's death. Actually she contacted me physically. I couldn't speak about it and couldn't understand either. 7469	Penny W NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1penny_w_nde.html	I just feel greatly at peace most all of the time. I am not upset or affected by other people's expressions of anger or frustration at the issues in their lives and I feel great understanding and compassion for them. I am now keenly attuned with the spiritual and matters concerning the spiritual. I am now able to know things about other people's lives...especially people whom I have just met. I have had God compel me to write down information that he wants me to have and to share that information with others. I am greatly effected by vibration, audible frequencies. Some that are high pitched cause me immediate pain, others with a lower pitch put me almost immediately into a trance like state. I can taste food not only with my tongue but with the insides of my cheeks. I now love hot and spicy things and hate things i once loved and craved as far as food. I now can put on, for example, a tuning fork healing meditation on youtube, and leave my body and travel elsewhere. I am able to focus my energy on people and they seem to sense it and become calm. There are so many changes, I could go on and on.

But due to the PTSD from the incident I gradually became more and more anxious about life in general, trying to be perfect so that people wouldn't leave me. This is due to personal losses and not due to the incident itself. I have received therapy for the anxiety and am doing much better.

After, I believe that all is spirit, and there is no doctrine that contains all the essence of the spirit that comprises our lives. There is no meaning for me in studying religion because I know for certain, it is a human construction. But I still long for a stronger connection to the vastness of the spirit of all things. Therefore, I tend to keep to myself more so I have the space to mind-travel.

Arti didn't much care for chocolate and ice-cream but... I just loved it!). I had somewhat of a singing voice whereas Arti couldn't really sing well. I was more of a quiet personality, wanting to keep to myself, very selective with whom I would spend time, whereas Arti had had an extrovert personality, very happy to be mixing in society, attending parties, PR and just generally social. My clothing choices were a bit more conservative too. Interestingly, people around me would say, "there is something different about you after the accident but we can't tell what it is".

I also trained as a personal counsellor so I could help people the best way I could. I then trained as a reiki master healer which uses the same energy I experienced previously in this experience and finally I trained as a clinical hypnotherapist as well. I have noticed also that I tend to be at a great deal of people's passing into the next dimension or heaven or whatever it's called. I have had profound experiences through out of body experiences whilst I sleep at night one which showed me I was here to ease people's passing over. Plus I was to help to heal. I have also seen outlines of what appeared to be liquid mercury if beings in my home. For quite a few years I could see dead people on this earth and at one point I wasn't sure who was dead or alive. This was the point I decided to try to distance myself from all of these experiences to get back to some earthly normality plus I felt I was being drawn back the other side myself and I had two children by this time to bring up. So yes the experience changed my life.

We carry a piece of the whole inside a physical body in order to gather experiences to keep the collective soul balanced. When it is time for us to return to the whole we shed our physical bodies. We may linger and walk among our loved ones for a time. I also believe we can return to our loved ones still on the physical plain when ever we chose. We are not bound by the physical plain any longer. We also return to a life in physical world in order to keep providing the collective soul with new experiences, both positive and negative. The collective soul is a balance of both positive and negative and must remain so. The earth souls seem to be experiencing more negativity lately. But be assured the collective soul will bring about balance one way or the other.

			the other hand I started to feel like the specific teachings of my church did not matter that much anymore, and it was useless to argue about them. I started thinking it doesn't really matter, which religious group we belong to or what specific beliefs we have - we are all part of one big family. I also became very interested in paranormal phenomena, probably because I didn't fully understand, what had happened and why. I tried to share my experience with my mother, some friends and my neurologist, but most people didn't believe me, the neurologist thought it was just a symptom of my illness, and my mother was so freaked out, that I never discussed the subject with anyone until recently. The experience was very important to me, so I learned to keep it to myself to protect it. It has probably made me more careful about what to share with other people and what to keep to myself. Sometimes I miss my experience free of my body, so close to 'home'. It doesn't really mean I want to die - I really think I need to stick around longer. The beauty and peacefulness of the experience just gives me the feeling that there's something even more beautiful awaiting us, when we leave this physical world.

This earthly life is a part of life, but there is no reason to impute some mythical aura to anything. What we don't know is something that we don't know, and hopefully have the aspiration and opportunity to learn. That said, I wished that I didn't have to 'live' any longer, had suicide ideation, that resulted in separation leading to divorce, and being psychiatrically hospitalized 3 times in 2009. I experienced that the higher power exists. I realized that I should do things in my life, which I love, and they are relevant to other people. To make people healthier, happier, etc. Show them that deep down people have the answers. I realized that my job (dentistry, oral surgery), which I was doing happily for more than 26 years, lost meaning for me. And despite all financial and other benefits (I tried to stay disciplined and continue to work for almost another everyday more months), until one day I realized that I am not fair to the patients with my ignorance to the task at hand. My passion and care for dentistry were gone. Since the moment I healed to successfully, fast and am pain-free!!! is close to the miracle. It also recalled a 'knowing' that was buried deep inside. I didn't comprehend what that was, because, in those days, what happened to me was not written or talked about. I repressed it consciously, but it kept creeping into my life. For example, the final thesis I wrote for my English degree was called 'The Intersection of Time and Eternity.' For more than 30 years, I went to many conferences on Spirituality and obtained 16 energy healing certificates. As I grow older and experience life, the more I think about my NDE. Because my NDE was also attached to a profound psychedelic experience I, for many years following, felt ashamed of it, or dismissed it in some way. I think because I was also young (18 yo) when it happened I didn't have the tools to integrate the learnings into my life. For a long time I felt isolated and depressed. I didn't have anyone to talk to about it. But, two years later, when my dad suddenly died the experience became much more helpful in dealing with his death and how to proceed afterwards in my own life. Religiously, I'm still the skeptic that I've always been. That said, I'm confirmed that we are all spiritual beings and that there is a higher purpose now. dimension of earth. I am not the same person as I was before my first NDE. I'm an entirely different person.

8403	Richard L NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1richard_l_nde_8403.html	I have a sensory overload to grocery shopping. I can walk down the spice aisle and I can smell all of the spices that are packaged or contained in the sealed jars. It's just like when you walk down the coffee aisle. I have the sensation that I have to get things done, my time here is limited. I'm more sensitive to bright lights, especially LED lighting.
8408	Francie C NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1francie_c_nde.html	The structure of the questions above could create misleading responses. It depends on how you define 'God' and how you define 'afterlife.' And I am trying to describe an 18 year-old's beliefs and then a 64 year-old's beliefs. So much has happened in those years that affect a person's perspective and approach that I don't think you can conclude much here. I was determined at 18 to view this as a unique experience that might one day be useful but that I would not allow to alter my beliefs or approach to life. I knew it was important, even at that age, to not allow one experience to have a dramatic affect on my life. In time I began to appreciate how fortunate I was to have the experience and to have the information about death that it provided me.
8410	Teresa M NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1teresa_m_nde_8410.html	I have a different way of viewing things, I have a great apathy for others and situations, I feel like I use a part of my brain that was stimulated during my experience that I may not have used otherwise. I believe in reincarnation and past lives. And I have psychic abilities, along with paranormal experiences that developed after the experience.
8417	Victor Philip DP NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1victor_philip_dp_nde.html	Gradually grew distant from organized religion and left the church - realized that I should study what happened to me on my own to keep my sanity and not succumb to depression - found that the church and 'learned friends' could not help me. Became a very difficult and depressing time for me afterwards. My religious view changed completely, reincarnation is first-most, GOD is in All & All is GOD. Creation is MIND and energy.
8422	Doug F NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1doug_f_nde.html	I see the world differently than everyone I have met.
8428	Stephanie J NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1stephanie_j_nde.html	More than 50 years has elapsed, but during that time, I have engaged in spiritual seeking -- sometimes intense, sometimes more relaxed. I have not, by and large, aligned myself with any specific approach, organization, or guru. I read, I talk with others, I experiment.
8435	Keith R NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1keith_r_nde_8435.html	I was more open to listening and believing people's experience than I was before that event.

8440	Ingrid H NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1ingrid_h_nde.html	I wrote a whole book about experiences following my NDE. The door that allowed me to communicate with Beings of Light was opened. Although I was too little and I didn't have a defined personality when it happened my NDE changed everything. It gave me the first glimpses of a life of conscious awareness. I have had experiences where I demonstrated superhuman strength and fearlessness, as well as experiences where I was protected in miraculous ways by the beings of the non-physical realm. I have incredible abilities to learn quickly and to resolve complex mathematical and mechanical problems. I have had some experiences in other dimensions of time in which my being and my surroundings dissolved into nothingness. I have been given psychic abilities with access to past lives and future events, I can sense spirits and I also have extrasensory abilities to see, hear, smell, taste, and know beyond the normal of the things I am allowed to know. I can see auroras and I have been able to manifest energy coming from my hands. I can communicate with plants and animals.

8454	Robyn C NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1robbyn_c_nde.html	I have a brain injury after the event. mostly I don't care about life and don't feel emotion. Brain injury is taking a long time to heal so not sure how much it affects my present perception. Had had a lot of bad experiences in life prior so angry to be back to be honest, I didnot want to come back. I long to be back in tunnel and complete the journey. It has been very hard to adjust and i think about what I experienced emotionally in the tunnel every day. I dwas always caring about people to an extreme now I realise my life is about me and I am not here to be everyones slave like before. I didn't want to be back here so I have a if i have to be its on my terms attitude. I feel i have come back for a purpose but not sure what which is frustrating. i don't react to things the same way mostly have a detached attitude to life and feel that maybe we live in simulated reality as life no longer seems real or important. dr was worried i might kill myself but i explained I don't want to be sent back again so although I am detached and long to be back in tunnel I know my time here wasn't up. I will be stopping work in January in hopes my brain will continue to heal once stress reduced more. I think I will be more accepting of being back at that point as it has been a struggle to keep trying to work since the accident and I am very detached emotionally from life and family since. Family say I am different but they accept me as I am. Like I say not sure how much is influenced by brain damage but hope to become more accepting and content in being back once stop work
8460	Jeri W NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1jeri_w_nde.html	I'm definitely kinder to people. It's easier to recognize struggles in others, even/especially others with whom I have conflict. It's very hard to be sarcastic now, when before I was known for being extremely sarcastic and witty, caustic even if funny. Things I might have laughed at or felt were deserved by 'people behaving badly' now make me uncomfortable and sad. I'm still likely to gloat a little over 'karma' but it's with a guilty conscience and a sense of letting myself down and setting a bad example.
8466	Lynn Z NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1lynn_z_nde.html	I'm no longer an 'active' Mormon. It seems too confining to me. I try to be more compassionate - but I do fail to do what I'd like to do and be who I would like to be. I also, recently, have a difficult time seeing so many supposedly religious people behave so terribly against others, for example, the poor. I am not at all a Republican in the current political climate, for example, but I also do not see the Democrats acting beyond their words in many instances. I do 'pay tithing' to individuals and causes I think will help others who have need - and animals. Helping others, especially anonymously (I'm an introvert) is something that's very important to me now.

I also feel compelled to tell my experience to people losing loved ones or people near death. I've found that the ones facing death are so open to my story. But people who have lost someone are not so receptive.
8519	Robin H NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1robin_h_nde.html	It has been almost 5 years since the NDE and I've struggled with depression quite a bit. Part of it is PTSD but I think a lot of it is related to the NDE. I spent almost 2 years struggling with alcohol abuse, I've never had a problem with alcohol, it was never an issue. I hope to learn as much as I can about the NDE and hope I can better myself and help others that struggle with depression.

My entire life became an adventure, a quest for truth and truth-seekers. That has not changed in forty-six years. As she was fixing to drive away in the U-Haul truck, I told her what I had been told, that without me our daughter would grow weak and become ill and she would not be able to fight off the sickness and she would die. 			was a child, there was always this fuzz about taking the communion whenever we were in church (it was the 70ties in Denmark). I just did it. And placed myself as far away of my parents if they chose to go up there too. By believe has always been something private. I see myself as Christian, but my experiences go far beyond the established church. When I finally had no way out, but to admit this is the foundation of my being, it cost me floods of tears along with the relieve. I recognized myself the best in out-of-the-closet-homosexual-stories. I let people respond to my sharing of my experience with: 'could it not have been the light just breaking the surface of the water, you saw?' And I said - 'whatever it was, it was the most beautiful thing, I have ever experienced'. Like holding a door for their earthly explanation. I was not until I started reading about other NDE's late 2018, after my second NDE, which happened in September 2017 that I realized, I have had and lived with all the aftereffects, and they have just been broadened out throughout my life: I have never been afraid of dying (which was at one point a cause for sorrow, since one of my friends said, he had seen a psychologist because of his hypochondria and fright of dying, and she had answered him: 'It is because you love life that much', and I was so sad, because I did not love life, I actually had a hard time getting the point of life). For this I want to say, that the answer for 46b could have for the most of my life have been that life is not meaningful and significant, but after my second NDE, I know I am here for a reason. My psychic sensitivity has always been extraordinary, during my late twenties to an extend where I had to pray and ask the inner realms to turn down a bit to be able to live, and I walked so many miles to understand, meet and rescue other people. I has been natural to me, however 'I' was so unimportant, that people have commented on it, since I have not had bad self esteem. No interest in completing, a very rich inner life, I could withdraw to, not judgemental, feeling the beast while connected to nature. But I believe, that the abrupt ending of my experience and the totally non-aware-of-aftereffects has left me quite lonely amongst all these beautiful people I have always known and shared love with. So many have come to me in crises situation, and leaned on me while I trouble, so much death has crossed my way in so many forms. I have been loved by people, and from within I have definitely felt, I was loved, but I have also been abused. I have given myself away to an

			extend where I have been taken for granted and in both intimate relationships and business been fucked with. I have taken coaching education and heart healer education and spiritual therapist education to get paper and techniques to what I knew and did beforehand, but that way I slowly learned how to protect myself. There was - when I was not in nature and not silent and just alone - a veil between 'me' and 'me'. An inability to wish and dream and realize/manifest my dreams for myself. I could get inspired and lifted and heading for, and suddenly it just dropped out of my hands and head. The only thing, that I knew I could do better than anybody was to go deep into those fine, delicate, subtle and profound layers of relationships and people, that is repressed, but contain so much harm, but also the key to relieve and inner strength and stamina building. But I was never able to make a business on it. I wanted to give myself to other peoples project, and I did not succeed with that either. Economically. They did. And then in my second NDE, I came out knowing, I had put that un-immediateness behind me. That veil between me and me. And I felt peeled and cleansed, and I knew I was good, and I had realized my overwhelming powers in there, and I had set limits for how far anybody could invade me. And I met a polar bear and knew, I am protected. So it is like - I went there for the second time to get, what we humans have to have to survive, and to give each other genuine respect. It is NOT respectful to let somebody else run away with your powers! How are they supposed to handle that? They have more that enough dealing with their own being. I also want to tell, that during my teenage years, I developed depression. Until 30, I had three of them. And at a point, I went to a healer, since I had difficulties living on. I had had these sorrow-outbursts as long as I lived. My mother says it came after the drowning-episode. I was inconsolable, and the water inside just ran and ran; unstoppable until I lay down, slept and disappeared into this lonely, comforting, beautiful place for a long, long time. So at the end, I went to see a healer. He asked me to describe my life backwards. And when I stopped at 8-9 of age, he said: 'you tell about grieve and sorrow, grieve and sorrow in one, long row. You have to go further back: What happened when you were 4 1/2-5 years old?' I lit up of course, and said: 'That I can easily tell you, I was almost drowning, and it was so so beautiful.....', where to he responded: 'That is it. Your soul. wanted to go, leaving your body behind. That is

			usually stock in the hips (I had severe pelvis disabilities during and after pregnancy). And the moment he said that, it was like a zipper, zipping me together from down to top. And immediately, I knew, I would get no more depressions, and from that day on, the tendency to see myself from outside diminished remarkably. I had since my early schooldays always this outer view of myself from left side, behind and up: I could always see myself in the middle of the ring with my classmates, hear our talking, but from above. And I have seen colors. It lasted many years, and I was a grown woman when I understood that other people do not see the same as me when they see each other. And I did not pursue what the colors ment, but suddenly it occurred to me, that they tell me, where people are seeking from: Colors follow chair-colors. Mind-people get bluish, sense-people yellow and heart grounded people get green around their heads when they speak. And people in love are pink. Once I saw wings on a person doing a doctors on something controversy. I was told by this pushing pulse from inside to tell him to trust his intuition whenever in doubt. This is embarrassing of course, but I always know when to speak, and it always is right. It is like channeling. I just also had to learn, that no matter how much they want something from the inner realms, how much they push us to reveal or deal with something, it is us who are here. We know how much effort it takes, and we are allowed to say no. As this reveals, I have also interchanges with parallel worlds. The knowing what to say can be the shared energy in the room calling for it, as if 120 ut 200 people are thinking the same, and I just speak it first. But the meetings with masters, elves or angels are real: they always leave something behind, something to be aware of or understand. Or simply love for me in hard times. I relate all of this to my acceptance of my early experience. I have tried to tell my life from a psycho-social perspective, but I have heard my self claim the point the latest years, that theree is so much more. I can not and will not be reduced to social and biological reasons, even though I can see, they also have influence, however in a much larger scale as to 'mum & dad': There are features for generations too. I have one thing more, I have struggled: Politics do not interest me at all. Powerfights, dirty tricks and popsmart newspapers and other media - that is not for me! Many friends have been reluctant to this treat of mine, but they have come to the conclusion that they cannot change me. I also want to say, I have many abilities with

My own perception of my creativity is how I approach what seems to be existential, Gordic knots or conflicts in a person, in a workplace or in a family. That is my interest and gift. But even if I have done that many times, also for payment, what I can do has not gained me my living. I suppose it has to do with the veil. the un-immediateness. People get insecure of me, unless they really need me. They don't have to be that any more. I am very clear and straight and awake after my second NDE. I wonder so much where this takes me.

I battle less and get walked on more. I don't feel that I belong in the general population in the area I reside. I have trouble focusing at work. I am no longer driven by money, ego, things and stuff. People no longer impress or intimidate me. I have trouble blending with the crowd. I enjoy being alone and can't seem to get enough time to myself. I constantly find myself getting lost in nature, art, music, and meditation

I had more direction after this experience...I have been successful. I have raised four successful children...a CPA; an RN; a Psychologist, and an Attorney. An occupation isn't an absolute measure of success but for a woman raised in a shack on the Flathead Indian Reservation...one of six...steeped in religious control mechanisms I have done well. I believe this experience touched my life and put me on a better life path.

A few days after the experience, I just felt a sudden urge to get up and go clean my home office. I walked in and the first thing I picked up had a tiny new testament bible

			under it. I have no idea where this bible came from or how it got into my house. As soon as I touched the bible, I felt the overwhelming love and peace that I had experienced during the NDE. The feeling that I had been longing for since I regained consciousness. I sat down and opened the bible. The very first line I read was words that Jesus said. It was a verse about how the eye is the lamp of the body. I can not explain how much understanding this one verse gave me, and I don't even have a clue on how it did. It just did. Instantly, it was like the breath of God filled my lungs. Colors that I though I had seen before became more vivid and beautiful than I had ever experienced on earth. It was like going from watching a black and white TV to a color television. From that day on, I knew and know that God is real. I felt Jesus reach down and grab my hand. He held my hand and everything made sense. The same peace I felt during the NDE was felt. My life had meaning, and MY GOD was real.

I probably would have outgrown that much more if not for the experience. I have had problems in my life related to apathy, feeling as this is all an illusion, not caring, not worrying about my health. I have no special desire to live to an old, old age. I love my life, am happy with it but I've more or less been resigned that in the scheme of things whatever happens - happens.
8772	Serena NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1serena_nde_8772.html	Of course, I ticked 'unknown' many times, because I was too young to understand most of these concepts. This event definitely shaped me. It actually made me fear death greatly, because I experienced death at a very young age. Despite knowing that there is probably something after death, all I know is that after we die, we take care of the people we love. I do not know though how we would lead our 'life', nor if we 'exist' the entire time. Actually, this event (not the experience, just risking my life) has really shaped me. In fact, I have been afraid of death from that moment onwards, and I still am. I do believe, and there have been times in my life in which religion has had a big importance in my life. At the moment, it is slightly moderate. I do not think about religion the entire time. I am just an 'ordinary'

I think my fear of death not only stems from the fact that I faced death at such a young age for an accident, but also because I just want to live my life fully. It probably has to do with my age, still.

8871	Alice U NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1alice_u_nde.html	One month after my still birth, illness hospitalization and NDE in Turkey, my husband and I moved to Australia. I am an Australian citizen so for me it was comfortable and easy but for my husband he was emigrating into the unknown. Three months after my still birth, illness NDE etc I became pregnant again and then nine months later gave birth to a healthy baby boy. So all this to say that, my processing time of it all has taken a while. Because there was the initial pregnancy loss, then the near loss of my life and then I was a first time mother with a husband in a new country who is till really struggling to settle in. So in terms of fearing death and living with fear, I am scared of death at the moment in the sense that I feel the overwhelming responsibility of a mother who does not want to leave her child. I do not actually fear being dead. I just don't want to leave my son without a mother, at least not anytime soon. I found I was super keen to communicate my otherworldly experience. As an author I wrote poems about it, some are published and even did a narrative soundscape piece for national radio that aired in Australia at the end of 2016. I found some people, close friends i had known for years simply could not hear my experience. They did not want to know about NDE at all. And then I have found that I have also met new friends forged on close and connecting conversations based on this experience of mine. Some people are really eager to hear about it, others literally are not close friends anymore. Also before this experience I was a really ambitious author. I've had one novel published and at the time was working on my second novel. And now all i care about is fully exploring my spiritual path. I did a TM course, completed Reiki one and two and have read lots of spiritual texts and watched docos and interviews about and by NDE'rs. I feel kind of ripped off that I was brought back so quickly and want to get back to that realm and want to understand why I came back. Through visitng and a shaman and my own meditations I understand that the other side, the feminine being would have been happy to keep me, and i would have been happy to stay but that i did decide to come back. This decision was helped along by the fact that my husband and all his family and friends were praying for me and willing me back and also that i'd only just met my husband (again in this life) and that we had stuff to

8876	Bryan C NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1bryan_c_nde.html	Although the success rate of my new mediation model was slightly higher than my previous model, I now can see that it was grandiose and centered on my apparent new-found spiritual beliefs. It was probably terrifying to my clients. In late November, I traded in my Mercedes for a new Toyota Tundra Limited 4X4 pickup, paying approximately $16,000 in the exchange; and, immediately after buying the new, fully-equipped truck, I arranged to have it customized to an extent which was clearly 'over the top'. Within a few months, I sold it and purchased a new Mercedes. On November 27, 2013, I purchased a house, which was the subject of a mediation which I conducted, sight unseen, for an amount which did not seem extraordinarily high, although it was against the advice of my friend who is a real estate broker. Upon seeing it for the first time, I recognized that it was probably not a good purchase; however, , believing that the deceased former occupants wanted their much loved home renovated, I elected to employ approximately ten contractors to remodel and renovate it, without first obtaining permits from the City of Houston or seeking bids from competitive contractors. The property, in reasonable state of repair, would have been worth around 100,000 thousand dollars; and, over a few months, I expended over eighty thousand dollars on remodeling and renovation. Within a few months, I had given away or spent over $150,000, none of which was used for my ordinary living expenses. I was hyper-manic for several months, could not sleep well, rarely ate, and lost sixty pounds in sixty days. I could not control my behavior nor choices; and that lasted for about four months afterward. I ultimately underwent several CT scans and MRI scans, at the direction of a radiologist friend, all of which were normal. I also underwent numerous lab tests of my blood, all of which were normal. This convinced me that I had not been injured in the fall and that my newly acquired spiritual awakening was real. Several physician friends of mine concluded that I was exhibiting secondary mania following a traumatic brain injury. One morning, I awoke; and I felt normal again, although the kindness and spirituality of my life has

I firmly believe that I was on an Intelligent Piloted Space Craft or perhaps an Interdimensional Spiritual Place and Time. All I know for sure is that I was in a Real Place that had substance to my surroundings and had a hard texture floor and walls to the room. The Tall Person that was talking to me without speaking, may have been my Guarding Angel, or an Extraterrestrial... Or perhaps One in the Same. I do feel in my heart that whomever He was, He absolutely cared Very Much about Me and my Soul; I felt this much for sure. And I also know that...I Now have a VERY SPECIAL PERSONAL RELATIONSHIP with God and those Entities that were there with me now in my life... Even Multitudes More Than before, as I was raised as a Catholic, and survived seven grades of Parochial School. I wanted so much to go to that Bright Beautiful Light...but, I was not allowed to transcend into the realm of absolute Happiness and Content...At least for now! I know not what I am to do, or why I was sent back to this Earthly Dimension... But, I do know that someone has protected me from complete death for all of my life for some reason. Because just two years earlier to the Date... I was shot down the Third Time in the Viet Nam War flying in a CH-46 Helicopter, and I was the ONLY Survivor out of 9 other Marine Souls that were KIA in that Crash... Also... I have survived two Civilian Aircraft Crashes... I have survived six Car Crashes!!! WHY??? I have no idea... But, I know that one day... I shall know and see the reason!

I told Peggi this and just when I was going to tell her what it was, nurses and doctors charged in the room to look at how great I looked- how healthy I looked..they were amazed. Peggi wanted to scream and push them out of the room because I was just about to tell her what it was. When they left, I misunderstood the question and said He gave me Life - which He did, but that wasn't what I was going to say. 9108	Anelia G NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1anelia_g_nde.html	I don't know really, but I will mention a few things that are specific to me. I started drawing when I was at about that age, I don't know if it was before or after the experience. All I know is that I have been drawing since I can remember. I used to do better in art than the kids. I was absolutely terrified of sports and of climbing ladders and catching balls. I did not associate my fears with the experience, but always felt inferior to other children who didn't have any fears of sports. The only thing I was good at was swimming. I was very quiet and did not like to play with large groups of children as I couldn't understand why they had to make so much noise. I had an issue with saying a basic hello to people- it seemed stupid and embarrassing to me when I was a child. I did not understand the point of that verbal ritual. As a child I used to ask my parents difficult philosophical questions such as what is nothing and asked them if they can imagine it. I used to ask them if they felt the way I did- meaning I can control my body but I don't feel it- it is as if I don't have it. I had this strange belief that everyone is born twice, first when they are born and then a confirmation birth at the age of 4. As a child I could stick utensils to my hand like a magnet. I am highly intuitive and have a strong connection with nature so without having studied about plants I can figure out what they need, even when the plants are very difficult to grow. My dreams are exceptionally vivid and if I had any musical skills I could have recorded the original music I hear in my

For example when my younger brother was in primary school and I was in high school, I had that bothersome feeling that something happened to him and he was sent to the sick room and my parent were called. It bothered me the whole day. When I returned from school, my brother had indeed ben picked up from school early because another kid had thrown a stone and hit my brother's head. I have had out of body experiences that start with vibrations not of physical origin. They feel like energy flowing from the end of my limbs and being collected in my skull. There they are amplified and the out of body experience follows. I don't like those to be honest but when that happens usually I am shown something in a dream. Just to be clear- I have never taken recreational drugs, never been drunk, never smoked and I hardly ever take medications. Medications usually have severe adverse effects on me. 9117	Lee S NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1lee_s_nde_9117.html	I actually havent told to many people about this, Im afraid people wont believe me. My experience didnt feel religious at all.
9119	Anne W NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1anne_w_nde.html	It's been 5 years and ALOT of changes in the physical world...My whole world fell apart physically when I returned to earth, I got deathly sick again 2 years later with sepsis and doctor said 'I was a lucky girl, that God had a plan for my life to make it alive: doctor didn't know about heart attack 2 years prior lol, I have been homeless since my near death, because of all the health issues and unable to work, so the Love i feel WITHIN is what has kept me moving forward as i allow Love to guide the way through. I KNOW that I am here to share my experince and to LIVE LIFE IN LOVE, AS LOVE, and allow LOVE To flow through me guiding me where to go; I was guided here to write and share with you.

9125	Rachael C NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1rachael_c_nde.html	I know now what is real.
9126	Dr. Sahar S NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1dr_sahar_s_nde.html	I became more and more famous in my job field(dentistry) because i looked at people not just as my patients but as human being..they became a part of me.. i got famous because of my behavior ..passion and patience.my marital life became much more better...i look after my life and children..i think if my life had ended that early ,i would definitely missed this kind of education in earthly living... this much joy... and this much experience to help people relief from dental pain
9132	Janine S NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1janine_s_nde.html	I'm not quite sure. I was 3. I do feel a sense of I was given a gift to have my experience but I'm not quite sure what it all meant.
9139	Star E NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1star_e_nde.html	Meeting God changes everything!
9151	Sharon V NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1sharon_v_nde.html	Because of the whole experience, I started a search to find answers to what the light was and where the voice came from, and why I didn't die. I was able to find answers and to develop strong spiritual beliefs again. I joined a group of like minded people, which helped me start to discover who I really was, and what was really going on here. It's an ongoing process, but one which I love. And I keep meeting more and more like minded people. My life feels freer and more exciting than it ever has before, and I'm learning so much about my own ability to create the life I want, and how to give back.
9155	Val C NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1val_c_nde.html	I have more wisdom and understanding. I am no longer depressed.
9162	Jennifer M NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1jennifer_m_nde.html	My experience was so long ago, and i was quite young. I see a lot of the documented characteristics of NDErs in myself and those characteristics seem be getting stronger as I get older.
9163	Robert B NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1robert_b_nde_9163.html	there have been subtle changes. I want to live. Not that I didnt want to live before, I did. But life is now sweeter and I am more passionate about it.
9165	Bill J NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1bill_j_nde_9165.html	Gave me a real freedom in my life
9176	Alex L NDE	https://www.nderf.org/Experiences/1alex_l_nde.html	I seem to have more empathy. I find myself on the verge of tears and in some cases I shed them. That never happened before I could be pretty cold stern. I

			watched both my parents and didn't shed a tear. It was just something that was meant to be. Now I catch one of those bad memories and a tear will fall cause I feel so terrible about what I did. I also seem to enjoy the simple things much more. Chores aren't chores anymore it's different. I'm more open with people.
